Ingrown Hair

Ingrown hairs are caused when the hair in the hair follicle gets trapped and begins to curl underneath the skin's surface. This trapped hair can come with infection and bacteria. Ingrown hairs are usually found more when the hair is removed from the root (such as waxing, laser and electrolysis). Causing an unattractive swollen hair bump underneath the skin. Applying My Skin solution regularly will prevent and eliminate ingrown hair from forming.

Razor Burn, Red Bumps & Inflammation

Is caused when removing hair from sensitive areas of the skin and also caused by the blade being too close to the skin. Hair removal can cause inflammation to the hair follicle, causing the appearance of red bumps, inflammation and irritation. My Skin soothes these areas by removing red bumps, inflammation and swelling. These symptoms are usually found on men's neck collar and women's underarms, bikini lines and legs.

Laser, Waxing & Electrolysis

Applying My Skin regularly in between the hair removal procedures will reduce and prevent ingrown hair that usually occurs with these services.
